GOV. MILLER GETS EXPERT VIEWS ON SPORTS CONTROL

Executive Listens to Opinions of Writers on Leading Pastimes.

RACING WELL HANDLED

Baseball Immune, Boxing Commission Likely to Be Reorganized.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

As a result of a discussion at Albany yesterday between Gov. Miller and a number of writers on sporting matters with reference to racing, baseball, boxing and wrestling, it is reasonably certain that the Chief Executive of the State will not put into force his proposed plan of one commission to control all of those branches of sport. The Governor's comments also led to the belief that he considers racing and baseball officials competent to govern their pastimes, and that he will not interfere with them.

Judging from inquiries made by the Governor of Senator Simpson and Assemblyman Brundage, who have drawn bills to legislate the present commission out of office and pave the way for the appointment of successors, those measures are likely to be passed before the close of the session two weeks hence and will receive the gubernatorial approval.

Wrestling is likely to be put in control of the Boxing Commission. The preponderance of sentiment of the speakers who addressed the Governor was opposed to a commission to govern all sports and also against State control of racing and baseball.

The Governor asked why a general commission would not be a good thing and it was pointed out to him that it would be a difficult matter to find three men sufficiently conversant with all branches of sport to act judicially on important questions.

Assemblyman Brundage then said that the bill drawn by Senator Simpson and himself put wrestling under control of the Boxing Commission.

Doubtful About Boxing.

Gov. Miller asked the Assemblyman if his bill provided for a non-salaried commission and the reply was in the affirmative. After hearing the statement that baseball was able to regulate itself the Governor said:

"I am frank to say that, while many people think otherwise I do not think that the State ought to attempt to regulate people who can regulate themselves. We have got enough to do to look after the things that need regulating."

"Except the last incident in baseball, I do not know that there has been any other marked instance of the sport not being conducted in a clean manner."

"I certainly have read of bouts in New York that looked to me as if boxing was not being run as it ought to be."

Referring to the question of grouping racing, baseball and boxing Gov. Miller said: "I see that they are wholly unrelated."

To the statement that the Racing Commission is non-salaried the Governor added: "And has worked very well."

In the Roped Square

Tex Rickard was notified yesterday that the French champion's forfeit of $50,000 has been forwarded by the Morgan-Harjes Bank of Paris to the Central Union Trust Company of New York. This message to the stakeholder contradicts reports that Carpenter contemplated drawing down his forfeit and box Moran were created by London promoters in their eagerness to stage a "Moran-Carpenter match," said Promoter Rickard yesterday. "Carpenter has kept his word with me, fulfilling every detail in his contract and the cable to-day gives further assurance that there will be no hitch in the match."

"Carpenter, who is on a boxing tour at present, will return to Paris to prepare for his departure for this side the first week in May, according to latest advices from his manager, who has requested me to look over several available locations for a training camp."

Young Johnny Reiser and Frankie Brown, featherweights, staged a fifteen round draw at Tulsa, Okla., last night. Reiser was the aggressor, landing punches at Brown's head and body. Reiser claimed he should have been awarded the decision, but the referee could not see it that way.

Eddie Fletcher, aggressive New York bantam, fought twelve rounds with Harry Martin, English champion, at Providence last night. The judges decided that Martin had a slight edge at the end. There are more boxing champions in New England than in all the remainder of America.

Charley Harvey has mapped out a busy campaign for Ted Kid Lewis for this month. Lewis will box ten rounds against Nate Siegel at the New Arena Club in Boston. On April 11 Lewis will box Walter Miller at the First Regiment Armory, Paterson, N. J. On April 13 Lewis will box Louis Brown at the New Arena Club in New York City. On April 15 Lewis will box Paddy Flynn at the New Arena Club in New York City. On April 17 Lewis will box Eddie Brown at the New Arena Club in New York City. On April 19 Lewis will box Eddie Brown at the New Arena Club in New York City. On April 21 Lewis will box Eddie Brown at the New Arena Club in New York City. On April 27 Lewis will box Eddie Brown at the New Arena Club in New York City. On April 29 Lewis will box Eddie Brown at the New Arena Club in New York City. On April 31 Lewis will box Eddie Brown at the New Arena Club in New York City.

Braves Field, Boston, the largest baseball park in America, will be the scene of many boxing bouts this summer. Johnny Mooney has secured a lease on the field. He will stage his opening show on Monday night, May 2.

POGGENBURG CUP GAMES.

James M. Lewis, Jr., won and lost in the handicap billiard tournament for the Poggenburg cup in the National Recreation in Brooklyn last night. In his first game Lewis was defeated by Francis S. Appleby, 250 to 84. In his second contest Lewis triumphed over J. Blalock, 125 to 114. In another game George Spear defeated Claude Lewis, 125 to 67.

SEVERAL COLLEGES IN INDOOR POLO

The indoor polo season, so far as tournaments are concerned, comes to an end with the present one now in progress at the Squadron A Armory, at Ninety-fourth street and Madison avenue, the crack cavalry organization conducting the tournament under sanction of the Indoor Polo Association. A record number of teams have entered, including those of Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Penns., Princeton, Norwich and West Point to say nothing of senior and junior riders from the Riding Club, the Riding and Driving Club of Brooklyn, Durand's Academy and others.

Harvard and Cornell are making their first appearance in this city at polo. The winners in the junior and senior divisions in the semi-finals will meet the corresponding West Point teams next week.

From a spectator's point of view indoor polo is one of if not the most spectacular of all indoor games, producing more thrills in the minute than any other game affords, as was demonstrated to the public at the last National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden last November.

The Squadron A tournament is open to the public, an admission charge, which entitles one to a seat, of $1.00 being made to cover the expenses incidental to the conduct of the tournament and not as a money making proposition. Many who saw their first game of indoor polo during the earlier portion of the week of the National Horse Show were so deeply impressed that they became constant attendants during the rest of the week.

YALE STRONG ON LINKS.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New Haven, April 7.—Prospects are bright for a strenuous Yale golf team this year. With Capt. ## REFEREE DECIDES AGAINST SHARKEY

Award to Midget Smith Causes Crowd to Rush Manhattan S. C. Ring.

Midget Smith last night was awarded the decision over Jack Sharkey in a fifteen round bout in the Manhattan Casino. The decision did not meet with the approval of the spectators, many of whom made a rush for the ring to attack Tom Smith, the referee, who voted in favor of the Midget.

The referee and one of the judges agreed on Smith, while the other judge was of the opinion that Sharkey should have been the winner. The rush to the ring by the crowd was checked by several special policemen. Smith weighed 118½ pounds, while his opponent tipped the beam at 119 pounds.

Sharkey seemed to have all the rounds in his favor, except the second, fourth, tenth and fifteenth. Smith landed a few hard punches, but they were not enough to offset the many telling blows landed by Sharkey.

Smith was hammered hard by the game little Italian until the fourteenth, when Sharkey let up in his rushing tactics. Taking advantage of Jack's temporary weakness, Smith sailed into his opponent and had him in a bad way when the bell rang.

In the fifteenth and last round both men slugged toe to toe. During one of these encounters Sharkey fell to the canvas more from his exhausted condition than from a blow from his opponent. At another stage Sharkey slipped, but not as the result of a blow. Mickey Donley, the Newark lightweight, made a punchline bag out of Jimmy Duffy of the West Side in the semi-final, the Jersey entry getting the judges' decision by a wide margin after ten fast rounds.

The next event on the card resulted in a draw between Jack Redmond and Barney McGovern, middleweights. In the first six round preliminary Pete Slain gained the judges' decision over Charley Meaney.

SIX DAY CYCLE RIDERS HAVE A FIST FIGHT

Spills and Theft of Lap Mark Chicago Race.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Several serious spills, a fist fight and the theft of a lap furnished the thrills to-night in the six-day bicycle race, in which the Corry-McBeath team was leading the field by a big margin at 11 P. M., the ninety-sixth hour. The leaders had covered 1,211 miles & laps, with the rest of the field one lap behind.

The point score at that hour for the three leaders was: Corry-McBeath, 179½; Telleus-Begraaves, 27½, and Keller-Cavanaugh, 27. Hill and Koodler broke into the point column for the first time when they regained a lost lap and became even with the field.

Eaton of the Boston-Kaiser team and Corry each was fined for engaging in a fist fight on the track. Reliance was the most seriously injured in the several spills and had been unable to reenter the race at 11 o'clock after he had been out for two hours.

WOOD IS CUE VICTOR.

In the continuation of the amateur pocket billiard championship tournament in Jack Doyle's room last night Courtney Wood defeated Edward Kirby, 75 to 38. Wood scored a high run of 135, while Kirby's best string was 11.

HUTCHINSON KEEPING UP GOLF RAMPAGE

Makes It Three Straight by Winning Tourney at White Sulphur Springs.

By KERR N. PETRIE.

There is no holding Jack Hutchinson, the Glen View star. Particulars of the final round of the open tournament at White Sulphur Springs have been a trifle slow in making their way to New York, but coming, they show Jack at the head of the procession for the third consecutive tournament, and this time with an aggregate score for the seventy-two holes of 288.

Hutchinson's last round was a 74 and, that being the same as was returned by Cyril Walker of Englewood, it left the Chicagoan leading the field by a margin of three strokes. Fred McLeod of Columbia, with a 71 for his concluding round and a grand total of 292, dropped down third money, while George Fotheringham of Bretton Woods, who tied McLeod for second-prize in the North and South at Pinehurst, this time finished in a deadlock with Joseph H. Kirkwood, the Australian champion, and Leo Diegel of Lechmoor, Detroit, at 293. The last time around Diegel pulled himself out of the mire with a round of 68, one above the record which Hutchinson set for the third round. Fotheringham's score was 74, while Kirkwood took 76 to finish.

That trip to Scotland which Jack took himself to during the cold months appears to have done the Chicago meteor a world of good. Travelling costs a good deal these days, but at the rate he is touring Jack should soon clear expenses.

His first journey since his return from abroad was the affair at Jacksonville, in which he finished third. After that he proceeded to Asheville, N. C., where he put together three 68s and a 71, which left him with a grand total of 278 and nine shots ahead of the field. Immediately following the Asheville play Hutchinson returned to Chicago, but came back in a hurry with his very best game to annex the honors in the North and South. In the latter event, incidentally, he made another 69, which like the 67 at White Sulphur, stands as a record. This is how the leaders finished at White Sulphur:

Hutchinson, 288; Walker, 291; McLeod, 292; Kirkwood, 293; Fotheringham, 293; Peter O'Hara, 294; Fotheringham, 298; Golden, 298; Pat O'Hara, 300; Weisser, 307; Leach, 308; Anderson, 309; Kelly, 311; Barnett, 315; Wilson, 322.

Wykagyl Makes Offer.

Wykagyl Country Club of New Rochelle bids fair to be one of the most popular organizations in the country this year with the star golfers of both the amateur and professional ranks. This links is fairly well known. Before the season is over many of the prominent players will be able to say that they forgot how the course runs for Wykagyl has made an offer that just challenges the expert to remain away this summer. Finding that no golfer has played around the hole of 72 since the course was remodelled, Wykagyl has offered a prize of $500 to any professional or a trophy equal in value to any amateur who breaks the par of the course during the summer. When the metropolitan open championship was held there in 1909 Alex Smith led with a total for the seventy-two holes of 306. This stood for ten years as the highest winning card for this particular championship and was not beaten until Hagen, Barnes and Hoffman tied at 307 at Garden City in 1918.

But even if Garden City did prove to be slightly more difficult it has to be borne in mind that the championship was held at Wykagyl long before the course was lengthened. To-day it is easily several strokes harder, although at the same time in much better condition.

The Wykagyl offer no doubt will prove popular with the professionals, who may be expected to begin their onslaught on the par of 72 as soon as they return from the South. As for the amateurs, not many of that class will care to pass up such an opportunity to add a $500 trophy to their collection of spoils.

High Cost of Hoylake.

Participation of Fred J. Wright, Jr., the Bay State amateur title holder, in the British championship at Hoylake is said to be doubtful because of the failure of the Massachusetts State Golf Association to make allowance toward his expenses, estimated at $3,000. Wright, who is not quite certain whether he is being asked to go abroad to play in the championship at Hoylake or to buy the links.

As if to remind us that there is nothing new under the sun, T. J. Johnston writes from Uxapala Island, Florida, to say:

"With respect to Kirkwood's driving a ball from a watch crystal without breaking the crystal, this was done at North Inch Club, Perth, Scotland, in 1853, by the then professional at that club, Geo. A. H. Revell's book on golf, published 1915, page 149."

Won't dispute the point with Mr. Revell. Can't say we were taking much interest in watch crystals and golf drives in 1915.

J. H. Kirkwood may be finding the professional golf company much faster this country than it was at home. Still, it has to be admitted that Joe has done remarkably well. It should please the folks back in Australia to find that their champion held Walter Hagen even at Pinehurst. Kirkwood's first tournament in this country, and, moreover, played over strange conditions of sand greens, and that in his next attempt he was five strokes off Walter. However, Kirkwood has been well within the money each time.

HARVARD'S NEW CINDER PATH.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 7.—Harvard's track training facilities are to be improved by the building of a quarter mile cinder path of the stadium on open ground just beyond. The new track will save the surface of the stadium path, said to be the fastest in the country, for important events, and also make it possible to hold full practice at a time when the stadium is unavailable because of wooden stands erected for the football crowds. The dimensions and layout of the secondary track will be the same as those of the stadium oval, with a 220 yard straightaway.

F. W. DYER IS STAR IN GOLF TOURNEY

Plays Brilliant Game to Qualify for Semi-final of North and South.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, PINEHURST, N. C., April 7.—The favorite all won their way through to the semi-final in the North and South amateur golf championship at Pinehurst today. B. P. Merriman of Waterbury and Frank Dyer of Upper Montclair survived in the upper bracket. Gardiner White of Nassau and Perry Adair of Atlanta came through in the lower frames.

Immediately upon the conclusion of the round Merriman and Adair played off their tie for the qualifying medal and Merriman won in a sensational finish by a margin of one stroke, 75 to 76.

Adair's match with George W. Mead of Glen Ridge was a one sided affair. The young Atlanta star played fine golf going out and was 4 up at the turn, where he arrived in 36 to his opponent's 40 but took things easier on the return trip. The match ended at the fifteenth with Adair still 4 up.

Gardiner White, who will oppose Adair in the semi-final round, also had a relatively easy match on his hands and won against J. M. Wells of East Liverpool by 5 up and 3 to play. White went out in 40, including a lost ball penalty and a birdie 4 on the fifth hole, and got another birdie on the fourth in company with his opponent.

The really fast matches of the day were played in the other bracket, where B. P. Merriman defeated Joe Schlottman of Detroit by 3 and 2, and Frank Dyer won by 5 and 4 against Arthur Yates of Rochester.

Schlottman drew first blood at the first hole in his match with Merriman and put himself 2 up by sinking a chip shot for a birdie 3 at the second. Then Merriman got busy and took four in a row. He won the third hole with a 4, sank a long putt for a birdie 3 at the fourth, ran down another lone one for a birdie 4 at the fifth and won the short sixth with a well played 3.

The remainder of the outward trip were halved in the par figures, leaving Merriman 2 up at the turn and out in 36 to Schlottman's 37.

Frank Dyer was the star performer of

Bay State to Send Two Golfers Abroad

BOSTON, April 7.—The Massachusetts Golf Association today undertook to send two golfers abroad as members of the American amateur team that will compete in the British championship, thus opening the way to have Fred J. Wright, Jr., the State champion, accompany Francis Oulmer, former national open, national amateur and French amateur title holder, as representative of this State. The executive committee, which voted to-day to ask golf clubs for subscriptions to the expenses of two players, originally decided to send only one. The selection of the "Cotuit" Club, Brookline, as the place for the Leley cup competitions on October 7 and 8 was announced.

The round. He had a hard match on his hands in his contest with Arthur Yates, and was only 2 up at the turn after getting that far in 25. Dyer registered birdies on the first, third and fourth holes and indulged in just ten putts on the first nine holes. Yates got birdies on the first and fifth and played the first nine holes in 37, including two strokes lost by getting trapped on the way to the sixth.

Dyer won three further holes in the second half, including a birdie 3 on the twelfth, where he sank a putt from the edge of the sand and a winning 3, which gave him the match by 5 up at the fifteenth. Dyer had 1, 4, 2, 4, for a 63, when the match ended, and Yates had the same chance for a 74.
